Title of Your paper: Social Capital Contribution and Community-based Waste Management in The City of Cirebon

Original Contribution : The rapid population growth in the last decade followed by the increasing amount of the waste. Community-based waste management become one alternatif solution in order to reduce the waste run by government and society. This study aimed to analyze the implementation of the waste management and social capital contribution towards waste management. A qualitative approach was chosen to solve the problem. The research location is on the "Secerah Pagi" Community in Merbabu Asih Village, Cirebon City. Community-based household waste management already using the concept of 3R ie. Reduce, Reuse and Recycle. Waste management activities are coordinated by the "Secerah Pagi" community, which includes composting, manufacture anorganic-waste craft, greening, Trash Bank, making biopori and education. Social capital such as trust, norm, and social networks, which is owned by the society and Secerah Pagi Community had a significant contribution in creating a healthy and clean environment through community-based waste management. The values developed in the community binds a sense of trust, commitment, and a profitable relationship that waste management is being conducted. The existence of institutional capital, in the form of adequate support from the government of Cirebon motivate citizens in waste management.
