Comments to the author

Reviewer 7: 1. Introduction. In general, the author has found social facts and literature showing the gap of research study. However, the author needs to reiterate where the novelty of this research is. In general, I see that the author actually wants to convey the role of gender diversity in reducing tax aggressiveness. Therefore, it should be emphasized by adding rational arguments.

2. Discussion . In this discussion section, the author should discuss the finding with relevant theories, especially about the importance of gender diversity in improving corporate ethics. The author should point out more explicitly about the advantages of this research finding, as well as the implications for a company.

3. In the conclusion section, the author would like to restate the features of the finding, and what are the practical and theoretical implication for further study.

thanks
